Weingarten Reinstated

Superior Court Judge Anthony Brazil has denied a motion by interim Seaside City Attorney Donald H. Smith to dislodge former Seaside city attorney Saul Weingarten as counsel for the Seaside Citizens for Good Government group.

In making his decision, Judge Brazil said the only relevant question to be answered was whether Weingarten was taking a position adverse to his former employer, the city. If this was so, he would have to be removed since this is against the rules of the state bar association.

However, the judge said that by simply filing a motion for the citizens group, Weingarten did not go against Seaside. He simply filed a petition saying that the January recall petition was not in error.

Since Weingarten has been reinstated as counsel for the citizens organization, it is now up to him and his group to get the matter of the recall petitions back on the court agenda.

Parade of Nations Incorporates

Some interesting facts were never published during the recent bicentennial.

The various ethnic groups on the Peninsula and in the county raised the fantastic sum of over $46,000 in order to put on and pay for the fun events you saw in the custom House Plaza last summer. If you think about it. This represents a lot of hard work. But more than that it represents pride and respect for the traditions and cultural aspects of each specific ethnic group represented during the bicentennial by the hardworking committees. It also means that the events you saw in the Plaza were not sustained by taxpayers money, but rather by "people power".

The Parade Of Nations proved to be a most successful endeavor. A beautiful pattern of cooperation and understanding evolved among the different ethnic groups and it was decided by the group as a whole to incorporate and peretuate the whole idea.

Our "goal" for the future is to further the cultural heritage of each specific ethnic group: to promote better understanding among each other and to relate to mankind in a good and purposeful manner. In achieving this goal, we hope to bring before the public, at least once or twice a year, a major cultural program of which the Peninsula and the ethnic groups can be proud.

We will also support many other programs during the year.

The Parade Of Nations is a non-profit coporation funded entirely by sustaining membership, private donations and club-sponsored fund-raising activities.

The general membership is $5.00 per year with only one meeting to attend a year, but this does not mean you will not be active. We operate on a board of directors base, but anyone that can contribute to various functions will be contacted. If interested, write POB 134 for membership applications in care of Parade Of Nations, Inc. Mr. Franklin De Olveira is membership chairman.

Tax Filing Requirements Are Eased

An estimated six million people will no longer be required to file income tax returns because of liberalized rules added to the law by the Tax Reform Act of 1969.

R. F. Harless, Internal Revenue Service District Director for Northern California, said a single person is not required to file a return unless he has income of $1700 or more. Previously, he said, such a person had to file if he had $600 or more income.

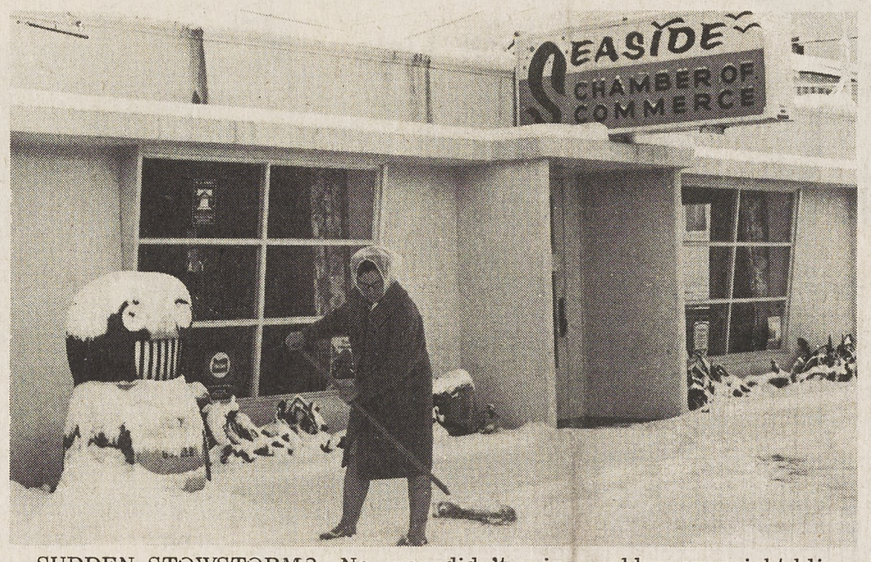

Single persons 65 or over do not have to file a return unless they have $2300 or more income.

A married couple filing a joint return is not required to file unless they have combined income of $2300 or more. This amount is increased to $2900 if one spouse is 65 or older, or to $3500 if both spouses are 65 or older.

Mr. Harless said, that in the past, these last categories of taxpayers had to file if they had $1200 or more income.

Married persons filing separately, however, are still required to file returns on incomes of $600 or more, the same as in the past.

Anyone not required to file but who has income tax withheld should file a return to get his refund, Mr. Harless said.

SUDDEN STOWSTORM? No, you didn't miss sudden overnight blizzard on Peninsula. This is Thelma Martz, secretary of Seaside, Oregon Chamber of Commerce, shoveling snow from in front of her office. Our correspondent, Sam Foster of that town, tell us he would like to share some of this nice warm weather we have been enjoying. Our apologies to Seaside's chamber--we promise to run another photo of your town when good weather comes back.

Farm Labor Legislation Reintroduced

Talcott Sponsors Bill To Stimulate Employment

Congressman Burt L. Talcott has reaffirmed his position on some crucial farm labor problems by reintroducing legislation to establish a National Farm Labor Relations Board.

"In lieu of strikes and lockouts," Talcott stated, "I have proposed a Board of Negotiation to expedite and guarantee the fair settlement of all farm labor disputes. This independent board encourages each party to negotiate expeditiously and reasonably to settlement. When disputes arise, one party files a petition and appoints one arbitrator; the other party also names an arbitrator. These two then designate three neutral persons to a five-man Board of Negotiation. If the parties do not reach an agreement within thirty days, the Board publicly announces the best proposal of each party, that is, the proposal of each party that is more favorable to the other side. If no agreement is reached within five additional days, the Board selects the more reasonable of the two proposals, which then becomes part of the labor contract and enforceable by law."

"I believe it is essential that labor contract negotiations be more public--the terms and proposals should be known to all union members and the consumers as well as the negotiating employer and top union officials," continued the Congressmen.

Talcott reinterated that, "Union representation, collective bargaining and secret ballot elections must be safeguarded also."

Most labor-management experts recognize, and labor leaders admit, that strikes and lockouts are outmoded and barbaric techniques for solving labor problems in a civilized society.

"During the past few months," Talcott declared, "I have watched many farm workers and their families suffer grievious injury, farmers and processors lose money and poor, innocent consumers deprived of nutritious food at reasonable cost because of agriculture strikes and secondary boycotts. This must stop. A better method must be found and I believe my bill accomplishes this."

Congressman Talcott also reintroduced his companion bill which provided that no state may receive farm subsidies unless adequate requirements for age, wage, hours, working and living conditions, workman's compensation and unemployment insurance are guaranteed.

A third bill which provides financial assistance to school districts through which the children of migrant farm families must move was also reintroduced.

"I am urging the Committee chairman to hold public hearings in California farm districts as well as in Washington, on my proposals. I am hopeful that the 92nd Congress will soon enact legislation designed to protect the farm worker, the farmer, the farm community and industry," concluded Talcott.

Congressman Burt L. Talcott and a number of his collegues have joined in introducing comprehensive public works legislation on the opening day of the 92nd Congress.

Approximately 150 Members of the House of Representatives offered their support by co-sponsoring the proposal to combat the high rate of unemployment.

Talcott explained that the bill which calls for 80 percent Federal grants-in-aid is tailored to assist communities that: (a) have a firm plan for badly needed permanent public facility, (b) are able to finance the local share of construction, (c) are ready to begin almost immediate construction and (d) can guarantee that a high percentage of the construction cost will be labor.

The goal is to make local areas more attractive to industry by building such facilities as sewer plants and municipal buildings without over-burdening the local tax rate. He suggested $950 million to initiate the program.

The bill is designed to assist economic development areas and major labor market areas that have a history of persistent unemployment reaching the level of 8.75 percent or higher.

Similar legislation proved highly successful in the early 60's.

Congressman Talcott, one of the original sponsors in the 91st Congress said, "the transition from a wartime economy has had adverse repercussions in certain sections of the nation. This legislation is designed to assist those hard hit communities to restore the economic momentum necessary to reduce unemployment."

He indicated that he will urge the House Public Works Committee Chairman to schedule early hearings on the proposal with a view toward providing measurable and immediate relief.

Mothers Want To Know

"Are the potentially rich oil leases off the coast of South Vietnam responsible for the Nixon Administration's failure to get our sons out of Vietnam?" It has recently been announced that the Thieu-Ky government has 17 highly-sought-after oil leases which will be up for grabs in February. ANOTHER MOTHER FOR PEACE seeks an investigation of the relationship between the oil leases and our unwaivering commitment to the Thieu-Ky government and to our escalation of the bombing through Indochina.

AMP has called for public hearings befor the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as soon as Congress reconvenes.

Logistically "by using all the ships and planes available in shuttle service American military personnel can be withdrawn (from Vietnam) in 10 to 15 days" said General David M. Shoup, Retired Commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps, January 14, 1971 to the Washington Watch.

The Mothers want to know why there are 337,900 American troops still in Vietnam. Are they being held there to secure the interests of Standard Oil of New Jersey, Union Oil of California, Gulf and other American companies? These firms hold leases off Thailand and Malaysia and some are vying for leases off the coast of South Vietnam.

During the last year a subsidiary of Ampex Corp, Redwood City, has been conducting seismic surveys off the coast of South Vietnam, according to oil trade journals. Oil experts believe a shallow contiguous continental shelf extends from South Vietnam to Borneo and that the sub sea oil fields being developed off Indonesia, Malaysia and Thailand extend to this area.

The February issue of the AMP newsletter launches a major canpaign for one million cards to reach Senator J. William Fulbright, Chairman of The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, before March 1st.

The 205,000 Mothers of the international Association, headquartered in Beverly Hills, are pressing for an answer to their question: "ARE OUR SONS DYING FOR OFFSHORE OIL?"

AMP began in 1967 with 15 friends and is now growing at the rate of 10,000 a month Their first effort was a Mother's Day card campaign to President Johnson. The card read "For my mother's day gift this year I don't want candy or flowers, I want an end to killing...Please talk peace."

AMP is supported by the sale of medallions, bumper-stickers, posters, stationery and other products bearing the AMP logo the internationally recognizable Sun Flower with the statement: "WAR IS NOT HEALTY FOR CHILDREN AND OTHER LIVING THINGS."

Change in Address

Effective February 1, 1971, the Salinas Branch Office of the Department of Alcoholic Berverage Control will be moved to a new location at 21 West Laurel Drive, Suite W, Salinas, California 93901.

The telephone number -- 449-2438 -- will remain the same.

Man of Year Named

The Marina Lions Club at its Fourth Annual "Man of the Year" awards banquet last week named Alvin Clay Wagner as recipient of the plaque for 1971.

Wagner was presented the plaque by Frank Vinyard, president of the Lions Club, at a dinner held at the Olson School.

Ted Durien, managing editor of the Monterey Peninsula Herald introduced Assemblyman Bob Wood who gave a talk on Ecology in which he pointed out that the Peninsula is one of the last areas in California that isn't blighted by smog. This, he said, is due to our west winds. However if the population continues to increase, we too may be faced with a serious smog problem.

Judges for the Award presentation were John Sayers, real estate broker; Bob Littlefield, president of Monterey Savings and Loan and Russ White, county sanitation officer.

Wagner was sponsored by the Marina Chamber of Commerce, of which he is executive Vice-President.

He is also president of the Marina Civic Association, District Adjutant of the American Legion, Vice Chairman of the Marina Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission and is active in all phases of civic work.

The two runners-up in the choice for 1971 were Mrs. Nancy Corkrum, sponsored by the Olson PTA and Rev. Tom Knauf, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church. His sponsor in addition to his church was the Marina Garden Club.

The Reverend James Storey gave the invocation and Stan Gellman handled the introduction of the master of ceremonies, Ted Durien.

Bill Will Protect Coastline

Assemblyman Bob Wood announced that he has co-authored legislation in Sacramento designed to protect the California coastline.

The bill creates a California Coastal Zone Conservation and Development Authority and five regional boards to regulate the use of the coastal zone.

According to the bill, there is an urgent need to protect the coast as a finite resource threatened with immediate and lasting harm from over development.

Wood said he felt it necessary to prevent the uncoordinated and piecemeal development which threatens the loss of an irreplaceable individual natural resource.

"While there are tremendous pressures for development," the Assemblyman said, "this is the last ocean we'll ever have, and it's the last sand you'll probably ever see. I feel we must protect it while we have the chance and still allow orderly development that will not infringe on the aesthetic values of our sea coast but will act to preserve the natural beauty of the coast line."

Monterey County would be included in a Coastal Zone Board responsible for Monterey Bay and the coastal areas of Santa Cruz, Monterey and San Luis Obispo Counties.

The bill is identical to one last session which passed the Assembly but failed to pass the Senate as hearings were refused in the final days of the session.

Wood expressed optimism that increased public awareness and support and an earlier start will enhance the possibility of passage this year.

Esperanto Course

A new credit course in Esperanto began on February 1 at Pacific Grove Adult School, P.G. High, 615 Sunset Drive, Room E5.

Classes meet on Mondays, 7 to 9:30 p. m.

For information call 373-4951 Monday through Thursday, 7 to 9 p. m. or 372-3253 after 5 p. m.

This course is open also for Scouts of High School age who aspire to earn an Esperanto Interpreter's Badge.

Although Esperanto is a language without a country, it has speakers in 85 countries.

Created to serve as a neutral instrument of international communication, Esperanto takes its word-roots from many national languages, so that many can be recognized at sight.

Phonetic orthography, fixed stress, streamlined grammar, reduced to 16 basic rules, with no exceptions or irregularities, enable a student to learn Esperanto to a level sufficient for communication in only a fraction of the time required to learn a national language.

Seaside Poet's Book Will Be Out Soon

"Reading For the Living," a collection of poems by the young writer Nick P. Olivo of Seaside will be brought out this month by Carlton Press. The book will retail for $2.50.

Nick P. Olivo is young in years (he is 19), but old in the depths of compassion and commitment to others that he has achieved. And his poetry reveals that with him these two emotional attributes were forged out of intense inner torment and struggle.

Nick Olivo's concern for empathy for the plight of others and ultimately his commitment to them arises from his own anguish - his own very personal anguish.

Of his concern he writes: "My theme is awareness. Many people live who don't care or just can't feel for others...other people who are suffering in this world seem to go by unnoticed." And this 19-year old poet philosopher adds "If I can make a person feel for someone or make him aware of something he never knew, then I have succeeded."

Nick Olivo at present is attending Monterey Peninsula College. He relaxes from his studies with the accordion and guitar. His chief ambition is "to help people."

Discussion on U.S. Middle East Policy

A panel discussion on the subject, "What is America's Wisest Course in the Middle East?", sponsored by the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies, will take place in the Samuel F. B. Morse Building at 440 Van Buren Street, Monterey, at 8 PM on tomorrow, February 5.

Panelist will be Dr. Emmet O'Neill, Samir Mansour and Hugo N. Gerstl.

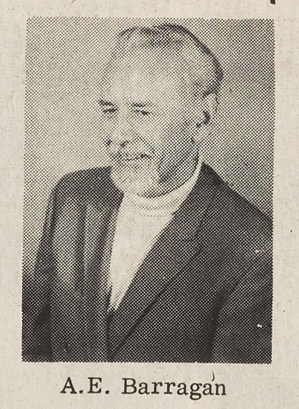

This will be the first of a series of such discussions. The next two will be on the subjects of the United Nations and Red China, and NATO in the 1970's.

The audience will participate in the discussions. There will be no charge for admission.

The wonderful Spring weather we have been enjoying the last few days on the Peninsula makes one quite lazy and nostalgic. We should give thanks for the fresh, clean air and sunshine that we, who are fortunate enough to live in this beautiful area, are able to enjoy. (Oops, it just turned foggy!)

I attended the Lions Club of Marina "Man of the Year" banquet the other night at which "Clay" Wagner, Executive vice-president of the Marina Chamber of Commerce was selected as 1971 "Man of the Year." I heard our Assemblyman, Bob Wood, tell us that over $45 million dollars worth of agricultural crops were destroyed last year by smog in the State of California alone. Bob pointed out that the Monterey Bay area would probably be the last place in California that would be plagued by that terrible killer, smog. He said that the west winds that we enjoy has kept the air around the bay relatively free from pollution. This fact probably accounted for the 37 percent rise in population in Monterey County over the last ten years from 195,000 to 247,000 people. Our assemblyman reminded us that it has been through the vigilance of our citizens and our governing bodies in Santa Cruz, San Benito and Monterey Counties that we have been able to control the spread of smog in this area. He warned, however, that with the terrific increase in population it will require constant vigilance by all of

Guitar Concert Tomorrow

Classical guitarist David Grimes, whose repertorie spans five centuries, will appear in recital tomorrow (Friday), at 8 p.m. in the Monterey Peninsula College Theater.

His program will include selections from all periods and styles - from Renaissance to modern, baroque to impressionistic.

Sometimes called "a poet of the guitar," Grimes began his musical studies while he was an undergraduate at the California Institute of Technology.

After taking his degree, he developed rapidly as a guitarist, touring for three seasons as guest artist with the Caltech Glee Club. He has studied under several wellknown instructors but credits Oscar Ghiglia as being most instrumental in his career.

As a solo artist, Grimes has performed to acclaim throughout California, on the east coast and in Mexico, his extensive researches into musicology lending stylistic accuracy and authority to his interpretations. He also teaches and conducts workshops and special classes in such related topics as vihuela music, guitar literature, ensemble playing and performance practices.

Tickets are available at the MPC community services office.

Promoted

Harry Jordon Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Villanweva of Seaside, has been promoted to staff sergeant in the U.S. Air Force.

Sergeant Jordon, an administrative specialist at Hamilton AFB, serves with a unit of the Aerospace Defense Command.

The sergeant is a 1960 graduate of Monterey High School.

Congressman Burt L. Talcott, has announced his eight appointments to the Republican State Central Committee.

Two of the eight named are new appointed members. The others were reappointed by Congressman Talcott.

The new appointees are: W. Montgomery Jones of Carmel Valley and Mrs. C. Everette Salyer of Corcoran.

The reappointments are: Thomas A. Black, of Santa Cruz; Mrs. John E. McNeil, of Watsonville; James V. Pettitt, of King City; Ben T. Lopez, of Salinas; Thomas M. James, of San Luis Obispo and Vernon L. Sturgeon, of Paso Robles.

Loan Rates Reduced

Bank of America has announced an across-the-board reduction of its consumer loan interest rates.

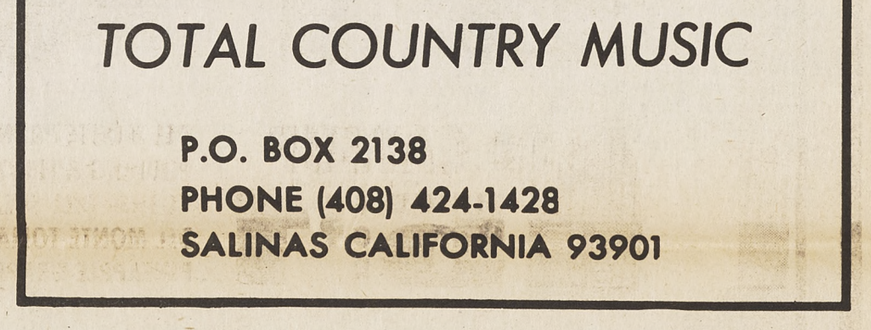

In making the announcement, President A.W. Clausen said the reduction, effective February 8, will be the simple interest equivalent of approximately 1/2 of 1 percent.

It is the second time Bank of America has reduced its consumer loan rates in the past two months.

Last November, the bank reduced its rates by a similar 1/2 of 1 percent for most categories of consumer loans.

SUISUN BAY

The Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers form Suisun Bay at the north end of San Francisco Bay.

Prices Continue To Rise

Californians are continuing to pay more for less, as third quarter 197 taxable sales figures show.

A State Board of Equalization trade outlet survey released recently by Member George R. Reilly reports taxable sales transactions at $10.9 billion compared with $10.7 billion for the third quarter of 1969. But in terms of 1969 dollars, sales were down about three percent.

Inflation made the difference. The 2 percent growth reported was attributable to higher prices, according to the Board, marking the second consecutive three-month period in which the relative growth in the total dollars transacted failed to equal the rate of inflation, which rose five percent in September 1970 over the previous September.

Sales in Monterey County were up five percent for a total of $110,606,000.00 during the third quarter.

Taxable sales of retail stores posted a year-to-year advance of almost 2 percent to reach $7.2 billion during the third quarter. Sales of nondurables accounted for the plus factor by registering a gain of about 3.5 percent, while sales of durable goods declined, strongly influenced by a slack in new car sales.

Cranston Urges Improvement of safety of Ship Travel

Senator Alan Cranston has urged that Congress act quickly to improve the safety of ship travel in inland waters.

He said all vessels plying coastal waters should be required by law to have radar installations.

"The law should also insist that the radar be kept in good working order and be operated by qualified, licensed personnel," Cranston said.

He said no such federal requirement now exists.

Cranston also called for prompt action on two pending bills introduced in the last session of Congress.

One would give the Coast Guard authority to guide ships in harbors, similar to the function of air traffic controllers at air ports.

The other measure would require that ship-to-ship radio-telephonic communications systems be installed and manned on all inland water ships.

Both bills were introduced by Washington Senator Warren G. Magnuson, chairman of the Commerce Committee.

Reacting to the recent collision of two oil tankers in San Francisco Bay, Cranston also called on the oil industry to "take a new and careful look at the wisdom of continuing to build bigger and bigger tankers."

"From the viewpoint of the oil industry, it may be cheaper and more efficient to load millions of gallons of oil on a single tanker," Cranston said. "But the practice is proving dangerously costly to out environment and our society."

"Luckily, the two tankers were not of the super-giant size. It is horrible to contemplate what San Francisco Bay would look like today if one or both ships had been of the 75-million-gallon class and massive spillage had resulted.

"This unfortunate incident is further evidence that we lack adequate technology and techniques to keep oil spills at sea from spreading, endangering our wildlife and polluting our shores. And, despite the lessons of Santa Barbara, we still have not developed any better way of cleaning our beaches, once the oil does hit shore, than by using straw and rakes-- a method that has all the technological sophistication of trying to stop a forest fire with a bucket of water."

"Until we learn how to control oil in water, we've got to keep oil away from water. Or at least limit contact between the two," Cranston said.

Many Vets Retain SGLI Insurance

A recent Veterans Administration survey revealed that one-third of the nation's veterans continue insurance coverage by converting their Servicemen's Group Life Insurance (SGLI) to commercial policies after military discharge.

"This was considerably higher than expected," commented Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson.

He also noted that 46.3 percent of the veterans surveyed had other insurance and did not convert their SGLI, while another 20.3 percent had no insurance at all.

While in service, men and women are covered under the SGLI program which is supervised by the VA, but administered by a commercial primary insurer with 600 other private insurance companies participating.

Johnson pointed out that most veterans have 120 days after military discharge to convert their policy to a commercial policy at standard rates without having to take a physical examination.

Veterans who are totally disabled at separation have up to one year while still totally disabled to convert their SGLI.

Veterans are not required to pay insurance premiums during the 120-day or one-year grace period.

The VA Administrator pointed out that a veteran with a service-connected disability is also eligible for a low-cost "RH" life insurance policy issued by VA, if he was separated from service after April 1951. The veteran must apply within one year of the date VA notifies him of his disability rating.

Johnson added that "RH" life insurance provides coverage for many disabled veterans who would otherwise find it difficult to obtain commercial life insurance, except at prohibitive rates.

us to keep the air clean in our area. Bob also touched on the pollution by pesticides and told us that the State and Federal government are trying to control the use of destructive pesticides by farmers and industrial plants.

After listening to Assemblyman Wood, I began to reflect on the futility of trying to solve the major problems which beset our country today on a local level, in spite of the fact that many of us would like to maintain "local control" of almost all facets of government. The problem of air pollution was first headlined in the struggle of Los Angeles to rid itself of smog. The job proved too big for the city, so they set up a Countywide smog control agency. Even this wasn't big enough, so the State had to move and pass laws governing air pollution and then, of course, the fight had to move to the federal level where it is now beginning to have some effects.

Pollution does not respect city, county or state lines, nor even of international boundaries, as we are finding our in the pollution of our seas. The fight to control sewage and industrial pollution started on a local level and then the job was so great that it has now passed county and state levels to the national control level. And well it should, because our rivers and shorelines cannot be controlled by local governing bodies. Now that it has reached the federal level it is up to the President and Congress to give it the priority that it deserves. I watched the Apollo Moonshot on Sunday and saw the millions of dollars that went up into the atmosphere in smoke and wondered if those millions wouldn't be better spent fighting for the survival of our own planet from the killer, pollution.

Another problem which has gotten beyond the scope of the cities, counties and states is the problem of welfare. The President in his message to Congress and in the last two years has been calling for a reform of the entire welfare system to put a floor under all welfare payments and to give all on welfare a minimum living standard. He also calls for a type of work program for those able to hold down a job. I have pointed out before that his proposals would get nowhere in Congress and have even at times felt that the proposals were not really made in good faith, but only as a sop for political gain.

Now the Democrats, who have always purported to be good friends of the "common man," are finding fault with the President's proposals. Even Nixon's own Republican supporters are wondering if the President has gone crazy and is supporting those people on welfare. It is obvious from this kind of reaction of our two major parties that real welfare reforms aren't about to come out of this session of Congress either and that the county governments and the overly-taxed property owners are going to continue to carry the load until some meaningful reform legislation is passed.

We have long gone beyond the "point of no return" on the major problems that beset our communities. It is virtually impossible for the local taxpayers to be able to solve them. Welfare, air and water pollution, taxation, education, unemployment and the other major ills of our country must be solved on the highest level of government, so as to spread the costs among those best able to pay the bill.

What I am trying to say in this dissertation is: what the hell are we doing fighting amongst ourselves about our city council elections and recalls when there are such serious problems all around us that we should unite to conquer.

Who Cares

By Mel Vercoe

Ronald V. Dellums didn't have a chance. He was running for Congress. He was black. He was from Berkeley. He made no bones about his differences of opinion with the "establishment". He was presenting his views to an audience in Monterey, and from where I sat in the audience I would have bet even money he was as radical as a guy could get and wouldn't even get the votes he needed from his own community.

Well, Iwas wrong, and I am glad I was wrong. He was elected to serve in the House of Representatives in Washington, D. C. I don't know much else about him, and right now I could forgive him for almost anything he ever did or thought, because he is dedicating himself to a cause that our whole House of Representatives has been deathly afraid to tackle for years - a cause that could save thousands of lives - a cause that could, by putting some things in proper perspective, do more for America than everything done so far by Lyndon Johnson in his best days and by Richard Nixon in all his days.

Ronald Dellums is trying to get Congress to take a long overdue hard look at what he and I both consider an almost continuous program of war crimes in Asia. He is giving office space to a group of Vietnam veterans called The Citizens Commission of Inquiry on U. S. War Crimes in Vietnam.

The Associated Press quotes Rep. Dellums as saying, "I'm committed to making the war the Number One issue of the 92nd Congress. We prosecuted people in World War 2 for much less than is being done in Vietnam. War is a totally absurd instrument for solving international differences."

Someday he may lose his job for helping to end a war that meant employment to many California voters, but he will long be remembered by some at least for putting human values ahead of monetary values.

Your Social Security

Q. I work part-time and during school vacations as a waiter. Do my tips count for Social Security?

A. Yes, if they amount to $20 or more in a month from one employer. If your tips on a job amount to $20 or more in a month, you must give your employer a written report of your tips within 10 days after the end of that month. Your employer will collect the contributions due on your tips from other wages he owes you or from funds you turn over to him for that purpose. Your employer will report the amount of your tips along with your other wages in his Social Security wage reports and on your W-2 form, but he does not have to match your contributions on the tips. If you do not report the tips to your employer, you must report them and pay the Social Security contributions directly to the Internal Revenue Service. Cash tips added to regular wages mean higher Social Security benefits upon retirement, death, or a disabling condition. One additional point. If you receive student benefits and your wages and tips will exceed $1,680 this year, report this information to your Social Security office. The people there will assist you in determining the effect of these earnings on your student benefits. They can also give you additional details you need about your tips. (Mail your questions to Social Security, c/o The Post News Sentinel, or phone Social Security office 373-3351).

Questions are Answered

Q. I'm a vet and want to receive veterans allowance when I enter a state university this winter. At the time of admission, may I simply inform the university of this fact?

A. Even though you do not plan to enroll in school until a later date, you should avoid delay and file an application now with the VA office nearest your home.

Q. I have an uncle, a 66-year - old veteran, who has just retired. Can he draw a pension from the VA like some other veterans?

A. If your uncle had wartime service, he should contact VA and file a claim, so his entitlement can be determined. Veterans within the income limitations are entitled to a pension if they are permanently disabled. For legal purposes, veterans 65 or older are considered to be permanently and totally disabled.

Q. May I obtain a G. I. home loan as investment property only?

A. No, the law requires that you live in it as your home.

Q. my brother is drawing 100 percent disability from the VA due to service-connected injuries. He is planning to move to Mexico City. Will his pension be discontinued if he lives anywhere outside of the United States?

A. No, it will not. He may live outside the United States, and continue to receive VA benefits. While there are some exceptions, Mexico City is not one of them.

Q. My husband, a war veteran, died recently. Will the VA allow any reimbursement on his burial expenses?

A. Yes, up to $250. The VA also reimburses for transportation of veteran's body to place of burial, if he died while hospitalized or domiciled at a VA facility.

LAW IN ACTION

SELF INCRIMINATION

Driving his car Bill Bourbon suddenly turned left and forced a motorcycle with two riders to swerve to avoid hitting him. The motorcycle hit a pole and hurt both riders. Bill looked back, stopped a moment, and then drove off. He did not tell anyone who he was or offer to help.

Another motorist, seeing the incident, took down and reported Bill's license number. The jury convicted Bill of felony hit-and-run.

In court Bill defended himself by saying that had he stopped and identified himself, he would have incriminated himself since under the Fifth Amendment of the Constitution he did not have to incriminate himself, he claimed he did not have to obey the law.

The court ruled against Bill: the district attorney could prosecute, and the jury could convict him. The hit-and-run laws demand certain things: to stop, to identify, and to give aid.

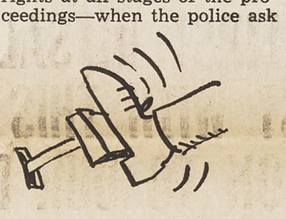

True, under the constitution you cannot be forced to incriminate yourself or to help build a case against yourself.

But the legal duty to stop, identify yourself, and render aid is to protect life and property. The District Attorney cannot use the information thus gained to convict you, but he may use other witnesses, the victim, or detectives to prove his case against you.

A driver who the police suspect is under the influence of alcohol must take a blood, breath, or urine test, or lose his driver's license for six months. Again, this is not self-incrimination, the courts have held, since the driver by asking for a license, consents by implication to submit to those tests in return for the privilege of driving.

Other things used for identification are also legal such as fingerprints, handwriting samples, standing in a line-up, wearing certain clothing, walking before the jury, or speaking certain words.

The accused may have his lawyer present to protect his rights at all stages of the proceedings—when the police ask him questions, or put him in a line-up, and during all court hearings.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) How do you decide which tax package to send people?

A) These decisions are based on last year's returns. Each taxpayer is sent a package containing schedules he used to prepare his 1969 return.

Q) Why did my tax withholding change?

A) There are a number of reasons, some of them increased withholding while others decreased withholding.

Withholding rates for social security tax increased from 4.8 to 5.2 percent effective January 1. This would increase withholding for all taxpayers covered by Social Security.

Income tax withholding rates were lowered beginning in January for single persons and those with low incomes. These changes result from the Tax Reform Act of 1969.

Q) I have all the information I need to file my return except for my W-2. Can I file without it?

A) Every effort should be made to secure your W-2 statements in time to file a correct return before April 15. If you are unable to secure all W-2 statements, fill out your return based upon the best information available. An amended return can be filed when corrected information is secured.

Q) Are conservation expenses deductible for a farmer?

A) Yes, farmers may deduct certain soil and water conservation expenses, that would otherwise have to be capitalized. However, if the land is sold within ten years special rules apply in calculating any gain.

Q) Where do I send my return?

A) Send it to the IRS regional service center for your area. The addresses are listed in the tax form instructions. An envelope addressed to the center was included in the tax form package.

Q) Where can I get a copy of the form on moving expenses?

A) This form is available at local IRS offices. Ask for Form 3903.

Q) I sold my house last year. Do I have to report this on my tax return?

A) You should report any profit you made on the sale of the house as a capital gain. However, if within a year you purchased another house costing at least as much as the "adjusted sales price" of the one you sold, then tax on the gain is postponed.

Tax on gains from home sales may be eliminated entirely for those who are 65 years of age and who meet certain conditions. For details on this and other aspects of home sales, send a post card to your local IRS office and ask for Publication 523, Tax Information on Selling Your Home. This booklet is free.

Q) Can I deduct my Blue Cross premiums?

A) Yes, if you itemize deductions.

Note that one-half of your medical insurance premiums up to $150 are deductible even though your total medical expenses do not exceed 3 percent of your income. This is explained in the 1040 tax instructions as well as Schedule A where this item is entered.

Q) Are gambling losses deductible?

A) Gambling losses can only be used to offset gambling winnings if deductions are itemized. The law does not permit a taxpayer to use these losses to reduce his other income.

Q) Are you going to send out estimated tax forms this year?

A) Yes, estimated tax forms will be mailed in February to all those who filed an estimated return for 1970. Forms will also be sent to those who should have filed an estimate last year but didn't.

New Law in effect:

A prediction that 300,000 firms doing business in California under fictitious trade names will re-file under the new fictitious firm name law was made this week by William G. Sharp, county clerk of Los Angeles County. Sharp is chairman of a committee of county clerks which has been preparing procedures for the new statute.

The new requirement for re-filing of all firm names goes into effect July 1, 1971, but Sharp said the filings will be accepted by the county clerk's offices beginning Monday, and he urged early filing in order to avoid the rush just before the July 1 deadline. The filing fee under the new law will be $10. Filings must be renewed hereafter at five year intervals.

The Los Angeles county clerk also pointed out that the historic publication requirement has been continued under the new law and that publication of the statement once a week for four successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the neighborhood of the affected business is required whenever there has been any change in the information contained in the certificate previously filed. Publication will not be required in instances where there has been no change in the information carried in the old certificate.

A fictitious name, Sharp pointed out, is one that does not include the surname of the operator or one that implies the existence of other owners, or, if a corporation, if it includes a name other than the name given in the articles of incorporation.

The purpose of the fictitious business name procedure is to protect the consumer in enabling him to find out the person with whom he is really dealing, Sharp said. If he has been defrauded by the "John Doe Television and Time Clock Repair Shop" and the shop is really owned and operated by "Richard Roe" or the "East Ganawanda Land and Farming Corporation," the consumer can find in the fictitious name statement information for bringing suit for damages. The procedure provides a ready source of information concerning identity realities obscured by fictitious business or trade names. Most banks now require evidence that the fictitious filing and publication requirements have been met before they will open an account under a fictitious name.

The office of each county clerk will furnish forms required by the new law or information and forms from this newspaper.

Sections 17900-17930 of Business and Professions Code in Effect Jan. 1, 1971*

Beacon House Benefit Will Be in March

Kick off luncheon for the 12th Annual Beacon House Art Auction Benefit was held at the Outrigger Restaurant, January 23 for the Board of Directors. Beacon House Art Auction Committee and invited guest.

Special guest for the occasion was Mr. Rene Weaver, noted watercolorist, lecturer, and juror. Mr. Weaver will be commentator at the March art auction. He is from San Francisco.

Master of ceremonies was Ted Durein, manging editor of Monterey Peninsula Herald.

Dr. Donald Taugher, who has long been dedicated to the problems of the alcoholic and Beacon House was guest speaker.

The kick-off luncheon was in anticipation of the March 27 and 28 preview and art auction.

On March 27 from 7 to 9 p.m., there will be a champagne preview of the works of art to be placed on the auction block. Over sixty paintings will be on exhibit at the Outrigger Restaurant, 700 Cannery Row, Monterey The public is invited, but there is a small charge to defray expenses.

On Sunday, March 28 at noon there will be a luncheon preceeding the art auction at the Outrigger Restaurant.

Reservations may be made by calling 624-6283.

The art auction will follow at 2 p.m. Tickets for the auction only are on sale at the Outrigger.

There will be three paintings as door prizes at the March auction: a watercolor by James Kramer; an oil by Harold Shelton and an oil by Harriet Mayland. In addition to this there will be complimentary dinners and fine wines offered as door prizes.

TRAINED MANY

The hunter safety training program, administered by the DFG, has trained more than 500,000 youngsters in the safe handling of firearms since the inception of the program in 1954.

Center's Tots Learn From Field Trips

On the proved theory that from an early age children can learn from observation and experience, each of the 50 youngsters enrolled at the Monterey Children's Center is offered opportunity to go on at least two field trips each year. Parental permission slips are required whether the trip is by school bus or on foot to somewhere near the school at 542 Archer Street, Monterey.

The children's center program is all-day, year-round care of pre-school children ages 2-5 from families with working parents or single-parent families, and is supported primarily by state funds and parent fees.

The program is administered by the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District which also operates the Seaside children's Center.

The 1970 field trips taken by the Monterey Children's Center included the beaches at Point Lobos and Pacific Grove; to Pet Paradise, a pet store on Lighthouse Avenue in Monterey; to Fisherman's Wharf, Monterey; to the New Monterey fire station; to the 1970 Monterey County Fair for kid's day; an expedition to feed the ducks along Lake El Estero, Monterey; a visit to Wolter's pumpkin farm in Carmel Valley just prior to Halloween; an outdoor breakfast in Deer Flat Park, Monterey; a trip to the James May home in Carmel Valley where larger animals from the SPCA are housed and a visit to the U.S. Naval Air Facility, Monterey.

One or more teachers and sometimes other staff members accompany the children depending on the kind of activity or size of the group.

Most parents are aware of the need for children to learn about the world and to be taken on little trips around the community, but with limited time, energy, and money this sometimes is difficult to accomplish.

The building which has housed the Montery Children's Center Program since 1947 is owned by the Monterey Peninsula Community Center and was especially designed for the purpose. The volunteer non-profit group operates a thrift shop at 583 Lighthouse Avenue, Monterey, to finance their various community projects. The Monterey Peninsula Community Center Auxilliary continues to buy equipment and supplies for the center.

Because of this community interest and support, there are many features not found elsewhere in the state. Live sheep are kept in a small meadow adjoining the school. The animal population from time-to-time includes chickens, roosters, rabbits, guinea pigs, mice, turtles, ducks, birds and aquarium fish. There is a variety of playground equipment and vechicles.

Head teacher is Mrs. Patricia Smith. Supervisor of all pre-school programs is Mrs. Charlie Knight working under MPUSD assistant superintendent Henry T. Hutchins.

What It Is And What It Isn't

CRITERIA FOR GRADING

by Joyce Nakamura

It's the end of the semester and all of the teachers have the job of grading their students. What do they base their judgements on? Effort, quality or quantity?

First of all, there are three basic types of teachers to consider:

Number one is the "quantity not quality" teacher. This teacher constantly gives out homework from the textbook outline sheets, objective IBM tests and requires book reports and term papers. They enjoy seeing bulging folders of double-spaced, type-written, neat work. How does this teacher find the time to read all of the work? He doesn't; he just looks for the number of assignments turned in, neatness and other signs of efficiency. A "B" for all assignments turned in and "A" if the teacher likes the student's attitude.

Number two is the ego-maniac. He craves an audience all the time. As long as the students reacts positively to this type, his chances of a high grade are good. The student need not do much work as long as he continuously showers the teacher with phrases like "You really inspire me", "Gee, that's interesting", and "You really know what's going on". An "A" for constant adoration with all assignments turned in as if the teacher had written them himself (please, no opinions of your own).

Number three is the liberal. He may be of two different types. "A" is the "image teacher". He reminds the students of the free atmosphere of the class, yet the two former types of teachers surface once in a while in him. This is due to the fact that his own educational background reminds him that learning is neatness, efficiency and attentiveness. What you have then is a very

with Betty Mann

Hi There Fellow Peninsulans:

Happenings last week included a course in black culture studies which was started at the La Playa Hotel in Carmel, with Dr. Kenneth Johnson, associate professor of Education and and Ethnic Studies from the University of California at Berkeley conducting the course. Mrs. Charlie Knight, Director of Compensatory Education for Monterey Peninsula School District, was responsible for bringing Dr. Johnson to this area. The course runs for three weeks and each student enrolled in the class receives two college units. Classes are being held from 6 to 10 p.m. Friday evenings and 8 to 4 p.m. on Saturdays.

As a student in this class, I have personally became very academically aware of my black heritage, customs and environment. It has opened the eyes of all of the students that are attending this course-whether they be black, white or chicano, to the black environmental habits and customs. The outline of this course says it will cover the phases of culture concept, nature of language, language learning, components of language, varieties of English, the nonstandard black dialects, development of black dialect, nonverbial communication systems in the black culture, Africanism in the communication systems of black culture, communication style in the black culture, communication style in the black culture, teaching standard English to speakers of black dialect. All of these topics will be discussed by the students. The class is composed of students who are representatives of our school system and other persons who are interested in becoming aware of the environmental standards of the black sub-culture. A personal note from yours truly: it was very gratifying to see so many of our white, Chicano and Indian teachers attending this class and to know that they, as teachers and human beings, want to be able to help their students and to understand them on personal and humanitarian level.

A future class following this same outline will be offered and it would be wonderful if our school administrators, neighbors, friends and leaders in city government could attend. It is very enlightening and is a splendid opportunity of bringing the cultures together in understanding and wisdom.

Another happening around town was the March of Dimes fashion extravaganza that was held at the Holiday Inn, Monterey. Over 200 persons attended this gala affair that was sponsored by Mrs. Lessie Carraway, March of Dimes representative for Seaside. A fashion show was sponsored by yours truly and Miss Betty Sapp. Models of every nationality displayed their finesse and charming personalities in the beautiful clothing that they modeled. Mrs. Mary Ellen Harris was Mistress of Ceremonies for the program. Mrs. Bertha Hutchins gave a recitation; Mrs. Helyn Mitchell and yours truly were fashion narrators. Clothing was from the FASHION at Del Monte Center; the beautiful hair styles of the models were by Miss Mary Cleveland, of The House of Styles. The delightful Jade Quartet, contributed music for the afternoon affair. Koscot Cosmetic Co. furnished make-up for the models. The March of Dimes wishes to thank the many generous donors who attended this affair, as well as the models and persons, who helped make this benefit possible.

Whadda Ya'll think about this: a black GI and his family from South Carolina had a cross planted on their lawn at Ft. Ord last week. The cross had been soaked with kerosene, but I suppose the culprits forgot to bring their matches. The GI's yoyng daughter opened their front door at sunset and discovered this horrible scene. I can imagine how this military family must have felt after residing all of their lives in the south and never having an incident like this happen, until coming to the free and unbiased State of California!!!

Film Producer To Appear at Festival

Jean-Louis Bertucelli, prominent young French film producer, will fly out from New York to participate in the French film festival to be staged by Alliance Francaise and Monterey Peninsula College February 9-11 in Carmel.

He will bring with him his highly acclaimed film, "Remperts d'Argile" (Ramparts of Clay), which will have had its first New York showing February 7 and will have its Northern California premiere Wednesday, February 10, on the second day of the Carmel festival.

Also on that day, Bertucelli will participate in a "rap session" in the MPC Theater Green Room from 2 to 4 p.m. He will be joined in the session, which is open free of charge to all students and other interested persons, by Uvette Mallet, director of the French Film Office, who will also come from New York.

Arrangements for this special event are being made by Mrs. Jerome Carlson, president of Alliance Francaise, MPC's community services office and college faculty members Robert Nelson and Morgan Stock.

The festival will feature three new French films to be shown twice daily (2 and 7:30 p.m.) at the Carmel Village Theater, plus "bonus" films "as time permits."

Scheduled are "La Maison des Bories" (A Stranger in the House), Tuesday, February 9; "Remperts d'Argile," Wednesday and "Le Clair de Terree' (Earthlight), Thursday, February 11.

Picketing Was Wild

Jaded New Yorkers have seen protests come and protests go, but the one staged in front of the New York Times is one that many red-blooded males would like to see continued.

Six lovely models wearing the negligee featured by Barbra Streisand in her motion picture, "The Owl and the Pussycat," showed passers-by what they were missing as a result of the paper's advertising department turn-down of an ad showing Miss Streisand wearing the fetching creation.

Fashings Ball Is Saturday

This years fashings ball (the German Mardi Gras), sponsored by the German American Club of the Monterey Peninsula, will be held Saturday, February 6 at 8 p.m. at the Holiday Inn on the beach.

Admission includes food entertainment and dancing and music by Rudi Weber from San Francisco. Also there will be door and costume prizes. Tickets can be purchased at the Viennese Pastry & Coffee Shop, 496 Alvarado, Monterey and at the Bavarian Delicatessen, 2228 Fremont, Monterey.

Friendly Visitors Established

A grant to establish a volunteer "Friendly Visitor" program on the Peninsula has been awarded to the Alliance on Aging by the Clark Foundation, Dr. Keith Merrill of Monterey Peninsula College, president of the Alliance, has announced.

Mrs. Frank Duran, Clark Foundation president and member of the Alliance board of directors, said the function of "friendly visitors" will be to "regularly visit persons who are lonely, shut in and have no one to brighten their days."

Organizing the service will be a committee chaired by Mrs. Evelyn Miller. Committee members include Jack Hickey, first vice president of the Alliance, and mesdames Joice Whipp, Jean McGill, John Turner, Ernest Spiegl and O.B. Wilson.

Mrs. Carl Hering, volunteer coordinator for the overall program, says that persons who wish to visit or be visited may phone Mrs. Miller at Forest Hill Manor, 375-5125.

REFUND OPPORTUNITY FOR SERVICEMEN

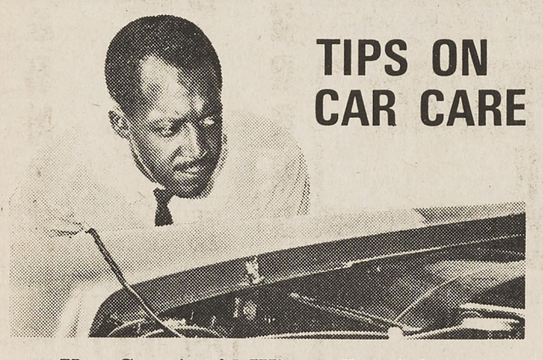

Recently adopted amendments to the Combat Pay Exclusion are retroactive to Jan. 1, 1964. Thus qualified Servicemen may apply for refunds of taxes paid in the intervening open years.

The Combat Pay Exclusion has been extended to Servicemen in direct support of operations in a combat zone. It includes military operations that are in support of the Vietnamese operations in the combat zone, such as in Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, adjacent waters thereto, and waters extending 100 miles into the Gulf of Thailand.

Claims for the refund should state that the claim is being made because of the amendment to the regulation on and other information, which can be verified by military pay records, must be submitted to support entitlement to the exclusion.

TIPS ON CAR CARE

You Can Avoid Winter Breakdown

There are more car breakdowns in winter than in any other season.

If your car is going to stop running, it is most apt to stop in cold weather, and that is when it is troublesome and expensive. Take your battery for example:

Battery experts tell us that batteries take their worst beating in the high heat of summer. It is the very hot temperatures that shorten the life of your battery, but it is usually in cold weather that the weakened battery fails to start your car.

This is because of the effect of cold on both the engine and the battery. As the temperature drops, the engine is harder to turn over. So it takes more power from the battery.

At the same time, cold robs the battery of its normal efficiency. Even a new battery produces less power when it is cold. An old battery that is just strong enough to keep you going in warm weather won't do the job when it is cold.

Another cold weather danger spot in your car is old or damaged radiator and heater hose. Nothing can stop you more completely or helplessly than a broken hose in your cooling system. Here is why hose tends to break in cold weather:

When the weather is cold, the car's thermostat stays closed longer. The thermostat is a heat-activated valve that controls the flow of coolant from the radiator to the engine to warm up the engine quickly and keep it at the right temperature.

When the thermostat closes, pressure in part of the cooling system increases. If the radiator and heater hoses are old or weak from heat or oil damage, the higher pressure often will burst them.

Anyone who has been stranded on the road with a broken hose will tell you that replacing old hose before it breaks is well worth the little it costs.

B.F.Goodrich car service experts recommend replacing radiator and heater hoses when they are three years old.

If your car is the least bit hard to start in the cooler days of early winter, don't wait for it to get worse. Have your battery, spark plugs, distributor and ignition wiring all checked and repaired if needed.

Timely service can prevent nearly all cold-weather car troubles.

CHAMPION - Stella Ramos, wife of Mando Ramos (right), leading lightweight contender and former champion, accepts keys to new 1971 Datsun 240-Z from Robert Wilde, owner of Santa Ana Datsun. Predict Half Of Families Will Have Accident in '70's

Nobody knows who it will be--a child, the mother or the father--but during the 1970's in Californa, at least one out of every two families will see one of their own dead or injured in a traffic accident.

The Insurance Information Institute said today that, on the basis of present trends, one out of every 97 California families, on the average, will have an immediate family member die in traffic before 1980. One out of every 1.8 families will have a parent or child injured in traffic during the same decade.

The Institute said the calculations are projections of the death and injury rate for the next ten years, based upon what has happened during the past ten years.

So they will have help in footing the bill for the estimated 2,128,300 fatal and injury accidents over the ten years; Californians will pay at least $19 billion for various kinds of automobile insurance. This amount probably will go higher because the projection was based only on the increase in accidents and injuries, with no allowance for inflation, a factor too uncertain to predict.

While safety advances in the engineering of cars and highways may slow down the growing number of accidents, injuries and deaths, the increased number of people and cars in California traffic may offset any such benefit.

One other factor should be remembered, the Institute said. The accident that doesn't happen kills no one, injures nobody and cost nothing.

The data upon which the projections were made came from the California Department of Finance, the California Department of Motor Vehicles and the California Insurance Department, the I.I.I. said.

GM Deposits $5 Million In Minority Owned Banks

The General Motors Corporation is committing the sum of $5 million in bank deposits in 32 minority-owned banks as part of government-private business effort to increase bank funds available for minority business development, according to a recent announcement by Under Secretary of Commerce Rocco C. Siciliano.

In a ceremony in the Department of Commerce in Washington, D.C., James Roche, GM's board chairman, gave checks to four of the banks involved.

Among those present, in addition to Siciliano, was Sam Wyly, chairman of the National Advisory Council on Minority Business Enterprise, which with the National Bankers Association and the Treasury Department developed the program last year to increase minority deposits in minority owned banks across the nation by $100 million in 1971.

These funds, which would represent a one-third increase in the deposit totals of minority banks, are intended to encourage, through the banking system, the creation and development of minority businesses and additional job opportunities.

The program will involve about $65 million in private sector deposits, with an additional $15 million to be provided by government deposits.

GM deposits of $5 million represent a substantial commitment of funds -- over seven percent of the private sector total.

Roche delivered checks to Eliu Romero of the Centinel Bank of Taos, Donald Snead of Unity Bank and Trust of Roxbury, William Hudgens of New York's Freedom National Bank, and Ugo Lisi of the Banco de Ponce of New York.

Roche indicated that the $5 million in deposit balances will consist of various combinations of low interest certificates of deposit, time accounts and tax and loan accounts, with each account arranged to best suit the needs of the individual bank.

"Our investigations indicate that minority banks are making substantial contributions to economic development among minorities," said Roche, "and I hope that GM's action will stimulate other corporations to make similar deposits so that these banks can continue their important work."

Applauding the GM action, Siciliano said:

"It is indicative of the business community's growing interest in and support of positive action programs aimed at solving many of today's problems in society."

According to Samuel S. Beard, chairman of Capital Formation, Inc., and Dr. Edward Irons, executive director of the National Bankers Association, the association of minority banks who have the responsibility of carrying out the private phase of the program, it is ahead of schedule in soliciting deposits and they both expressed themselves as pleased with the overall response. The minority banks have made over 72,000 loans in the minority communities. This includes over 7,000 business loans totaling $58 million.

As a result of this program, the banks will be able to make $50 million in new loans in the minority communities, they said.

Including the GM announcement, $8.5 million of new deposits have been committed to the minority banks and over $3 million has actually been deposited in the banks from churches, corporations, labor unions, social welfare organizations and the government.

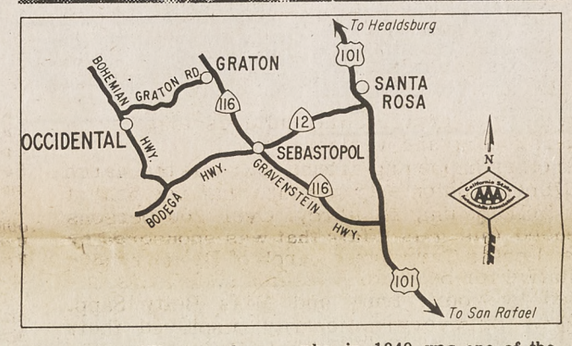

Bill Affects Motorcycles

Motorcyclists will be required to use their lights around the clock when operated on highways if a bill, SB 26, introduced by Senator Donald L. Grunsky (R, Santa Cruz) becomes law in California.

Grunsky said his bill was aimed at providing greater safety for the state's half-million motorcyclists.

Sights Are Many in Scenic Occidental

There is still one place where a family can go for a scenic Sunday drive into the country and a good dinner, where everyone takes his time and there is no pressure.

The little town of Occidental is hidden among the hills of Sonoma County, not far from Sebastopol. There is no freeway leading in to this quiet place, only winding roads that are meant to be driven leisurely, reminiscent of a time when life was slower-paced.

Occidental gets its name from the Methodist church which was built there in 1876 and which rises above most of the homes and stores, from its vantage point a block away from the main street.

Earlier, the locale had been called Howard's Summit Station, after William Howard, who in 1849 was one of the first settlers.

For many years, the principal activity in Occidental was lumbering. However, many trees were spared and the hills surrounding the town are now covered with mature pine, fir, madrone, bay and redwood trees.

One of Occidental's delightful buildings is a two-story frame structure which one sees on entering the town from the south on Bohemian Highway. It houses the Occidental Art Gallery and was built in 1879 by a descendant of General Zachery Taylor.

After wandering around exploring the old homes and stores, have dinner in Occidental. There are three Italian restaurants which serve family-style meals.

Legion News

On January 22, the commander, Albert Lioi and adjutant, Clarence Dowden, of the Seaside American Legion Post 591 signed the necessary papers, on behalf of the whole, Post, at Monterey Savings and Loan for the purchase of Biff's Restaurant, which will be used as the new Post home.

Title of the property is in escrow, but they should be moving within the month.

Since this move will take a lot of work, Commander Lioi urges all members to attend meetings so they can find out how they can help.

Post 591 will hold its Four Chaplains Day Service at 2 p. m. Sunday, February 7, at St. Matthias Church in Seaside. The church is located on the south east corner of Noche Buena and Kimball.

All legionairres and their families are urged to attend the services.

On February 6 at 7:30 p.m. there will be a homecoming dinner for the Post's Deputy Commander Harper at the Post home. Jim Blair, the chef, guarantees that it will be a good one.

After dinner there will be live music and dancing.

From 2:30 to 6 p. m. on February 18, the Red Cross will have a "blood drawing" at the Seaside Fire Department.

Patriotism Was Theme

Patriotism was the theme of the first luncheon in 1971 for the Ft. Ord Officers Wives Club.

Mrs. Frederick Phillippe, chairman of the "Help Us Help Them" committee, spoke briefly about American prisoners of war and what individuals can do to support these men.

The Ft. Ord Army Band followed, presenting a stirring medley of tunes including "It's a Grand Old Flag" "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "America, the Beautiful," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," under the direction of Warrant Officer Tom Green.

Ladies were seated by their home state or country, to add to the patriotic mood.

A wine tasting session, provided by the Mirassou Vineyards, preceded the luncheon which was held in the main ballroom of the Ft. Ord Officers Club.

Mrs. Charles Christin, Jr., OWC president, introduced Mary Rodriguez, writer for the Monterey Peninsula Herald, who was a special guest. Other ladies seated at the head table were Mrs. Phillip B. Davidson Jr., wife of Ft. Ord's commanding general; Mrs. Glen Long, wife of the deputy commanding general; Mrs. Paul C. Root; Mrs. Richard Murnighan; and Mrs. Phillippe.

Mrs. Root, Mrs. Murnighan and the ladies of the Directorate of Personnel and Community Activities were this month's hostesses.

Deals With Unemployed

"Business and the Hardcore Unemployed" is the title of a new book by two Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) staff members, Lloyd Zimpel and Daniel Panger.

It has been released by Frederick Fell Publishers.

The foreword of the book is written by Robert C. Weaver, former Secretary of the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

This 320-page book, priced at $9.95, describes successful training programs developed to expand job opportunities for the unskilled hardcore unemployed.

It contains comprehensive guidelines to managers, supervisors and foremen to

Pleads For Space For Wheelchairs

Danny Hearn, a former rugby player who coaches an English school team from a wheelchair, recently made a plea for the welcoming of wheelchairs of the disabled at all main sports grounds, with a free area for 20 or 30 at big international matches.

At a meeting of the Disabled Living Foundation, held in London, Hearn said:

"Everyone must understand what we are. I am disabled, but a disabled person is the same as anyone else, with the same emotions, ambitions and frustrations. We just find it a bit more difficult to move."

Hearn, in reporting on sports and physical recreation for the disabled, stressed that they deserved the same rights as everyone else and that the important message to get across was that they wanted to work and play side by side with ablebodied people.

Sermon Will Discuss Anger

A deeper and more dependable basis for overcoming anger and violence will be brought out in all Christian Science churches on the Monterey Peninsula Sunday. Services begin at 11 a.m.

One of the scriptural passages in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Spirit" reads: "He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth has spirit than he that taketh a city."

A related passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Sciprtures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Rise in the strength of Spirit to resist all that is unlike good. God has made man capable of this, and nothing can vitiate the ability and power divinely bestowed on man."

What It Is And What It Isn't

confused teacher and class; some students seeing the superficiality and others enjoying the "freedom". "B" is the "honest" liberal. He doesn't remind the class of their freedom, he just allows it. He doesn't pressure the class to do "assigned work". He lets them work when and if they want to, thus giving the students a more relaxed atmosphere and sense of self-induced accomplishment.

With grading, teachers possess all of this power over a student's future. Like servants of a god, the students must constantly be pleasing teachers, proving that they are worth the abstractions of A,B,C,D,F. Most teachers are only concerned with the outside appearances of effort amd interest. They expect students to be continuously cranking out "busy work". This work proves to the teacher that the students are in fact doing it, but what about the quality of the work itself? Students cannot be in constant inspiration for working. Quality work doesn't arrive suddenly when the teacher tells a student to do some work or else get a low grade. Under this kind of pressure the student produces poorer work and as desperate move, cheats.

Perhaps it is the teacher's fault for looking only for superficial signs of "achievement". Perhaps the teacher's attitudes concerning his concepts of learning becomes and obstacle for the student. By this I mean the teacher's expectations or goals for the students may be unreal for that student. These students may see learning as a more individualized thing, rather than a goal that all students must meet.

Teachers should realize that they as well as students are human and that abstracts such as grades can't be dealt with in terms of efficiency, attentiveness and collective goal reaching. Symbols, like the grade alone, are something unreal, yet are something real when the teacher becomes a judge and a student the defendant in the court of college entrances, scholarships and employment.

THE MATMEN OF SEASIDE
By Daryle L. McDaniel

Monterey High School will sponsor a tournament for the first year wrestlers from all the Schools in the M.B.L.: Seaside, Watsonville, Aptos, Soquel, Salinas, North Salinas, Santa Cruz, Harbor, Alisal and Monterey. The wrestlers from these schools will compete for individual honors and awards will be given to those that place first through fourth.

Teachers Attend

Nineteen educators from Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito Counties attended a Nine County Management Conference January 21-23 at the Sonora Regional Learning Center Near Fresno.

Trico-PACE Supplementary Education Center of Monterey co-sponsored the conference, designed to sharpen skills in systems analysis and needs assessment.

These skills will be further developed during a Trico-Pace-sponsored training session which ends February 5 of 30 teachers and 15 administrators from the three counties served by the center.

The workshop, which is being held at the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District Board Room, focuses on problem-solving and team-building competency. It will be administered by the Northwest Regional Educational Laboratory, Portland, Oregon.

Those attending the Sonora conference from Monterey County were Lloyd Swanson, Director of Program Implementation and Evaluation, Monterey Peninsula Unified School District; Thomas Bridges, Principal of Cabrillo School, Seaside; James Mitchell, Principal of Highland School, Seaside; James Manning, Principal of Ord Terrace School, Seaside; John Kindseth, North Salinas High School; Tom Fulton, Principal of Natividad School, Salinas; John Webster, Principal of Mission Park School, Salinas; Dr. Lawrence LeKander, Assistant Superintendent of Salinas Union High School District.

Those attending from Santa Cruz County were Ken Dye, Scotts Valley School, Santa Cruz; Duane Peterson, Principal of Calabasas School, Watsonville; Betty Redwine and Bob Annett, Calabasas School; James Baker, Principal of Valencia School, Aptos; and Doug Hoff, Valencia School.

Those attending from San Benito County were Lars Barstad, Superintendent of Hollister School District; Elizabeth Erkman, Fremont school, Hollister; Christine Lucas, Reading Coordinator, Hollister; and Ileana Goularte, District Public Health Nurse, Hollister.

Dr. Ronald J. Saris, Executive Director of Trico-PACE Supplementary Education Center, attended as co-sponsor.

Route 1 Will Be Widened

A Route 1 traffic safety improvement project in Monterey County was approved for funding recently by the California Highway Commission during a business meeting held in San Diego.

The highway will be widened along the half-mile section from Elkhorn Slough Bridge to Jetty Road in order to provide space for a left-turn traffic channel. Jetty Road is near Moss Landing.

The modifications will permit safer and easier access for highway traffic to four business establishments, one residence and Jetty Road.

The California Division of Highways estimates the cost of the work to be $89,000. It will be funded from the State Highway construction budget that becomes effective on July 1.

The prject was recommended for approval by Commissioner Robert E. Herdman of Solvang.

MOTOR-VEHICLE IMPORTS

The United States imported 2,026,424 motor vehicles in 1969.
